

The Bond on Brickell Condo hosts British Street Party

Surrounded by models at the British Street Party in honor of BritWeek Miami are Diego Ojeda and Alan Ojeda.
(Photo Credit: World Red Eye)

BY ALLIE SCHWARTZ GRANT

Rilea Group, developer of The Bond on Brickell, was joined by hundreds of Miami's top real estate brokers from Cervera Real Estate, and BritWeek Miami officials to celebrate a taste of London on Mar. 7.

Inspired by the best of British glamour, The Bond, a 44-story luxury condominium being developed on Miami's Brickell Avenue, hosted a modern interpretation of a traditional English Street Party in the heart of the Brickell Financial District.

The lavish affair coincided with BritWeek Miami, a week-long series of events in alliance with the UK Trade and Investment (UKTI) designed to celebrate British culture and business in South Florida. In fact, the UK is the second largest foreign investor in Florida, with more than 340 British-affiliated companies currently operating in the Sunshine State.

Attendees of the evening — with sponsors including Jaguar and Ted Baker — enjoyed an open bar, British-themed hors d'oeuvres and lively international entertainment by DJ YSL.